- A pro-Trump mob descended on the Capitol January 6, and hundreds are facing criminal charges.
- It took four hours to secure the building so Congress could certify Joe Biden's victory.
- Seven months later, 631 people have been charged. This searchable table shows them all so far.

Since supporters of then-President Donald Trump swarmed the US Capitol on January 6 - forcing Congress to go into lockdown and damaging the halls of government - 631 people have been arrested and charged with crimes.

The FBI is seeking the public's help to identify people who took part in one of the most documented crimes in US history.

But since many rioters were allowed to walk free on January 6, it's taking some time to track them down.
