The Honorable Scott S. Dahl was appointed by the President and confirmed as the Inspector General of the U.S. Department of Labor by the United States Senate in 2013. As head of the Office of Inspector General, Mr. Dahl is responsible for overseeing the administration of a nationwide, independent program of audits and investigations involving Department of Labor programs and operations. He also directs investigations into organized crime influence and labor racketeering corruption in employee benefit plans, internal union affairs, and labor-management relations. In addition, the OIG works with other law enforcement partners on human trafficking matters.

Mr. Dahl was elected as Chair of the Integrity Committee of the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency in 2017. As Chair of the Integrity Committee, Mr. Dahl is charged with receiving, reviewing, and referring for investigation allegations of wrongdoing made against an Inspector General, certain designated senior members of an OIG, and the Special Counsel and Deputy Special Counsel of the U.S. Office of Special Counsel.

In addition, he has served in other senior positions in the Inspector General community—first as Senior Counsel to the Inspector General at the Department of Justice, then as Deputy Inspector General for the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, and as the Deputy Inspector General for the Department of Commerce.

Before joining the IG community, Mr. Dahl served in the Department of Justice as a corruption prosecutor in the Criminal Division's Public Integrity Section and as a trial attorney in the Civil Fraud Section of the Civil Division. He has been a federal public servant for 27 years.

Prior to his confirmation, Mr. Dahl also served as an adjunct law professor at the Georgetown University Law Center since 1992, teaching classes on ethics and public corruption.
