Dear Postmaster General Louis DeJoy:

The United States Postal Service has faithfully delivered the mail for more than 200 years. Reliable mail delivery has helped our nation grow from a small collection of colonies to a continent-spanning global power.

Sadly, our community has not received the quality of USPS service it deserves over the last several years. Sporadic delivery, late packages, and poor customer service at the local post offices have plagued this neighborhood. It is time for this to stop. It is time for our community to get the quality of postal service it needs and deserves.

There is a problem at my home late or not at all, also I receive other mail that don't even live on my street or have the same building number. The post office needs to be better if it handles people in line. If there are more people to people in line another place should be used.

COMMENTS:

We still pay bills & receive financial, medical & insurance info via USPS. We want to support USPS & help this service remain viable. We get mail at best 2-3 times per week on average. At worst we can go 12+ days without a delivery. Our neighbor waits for mail order needs. This is a huge ongoing problem on our block.

Dear Postmaster General Louis DeJoy:

The United States Postal Service has faithfully delivered the mail for more than 200 years. Reliable mail delivery has helped our nation grow from a small collection of colonies to a continent-spanning global power.

Sadly, our community has not received the quality of USPS service it deserves over the last several years. Sporadic delivery, late packages, and poor customer service at the local post offices have plagued this neighborhood. It is time for this to stop. It is time for our community to get the quality of postal service it needs and deserves.

Dear Postmaster General Louis DeJoy:

The United States Postal Service has faithfully delivered the mail for more than 200 years. Reliable mail delivery has helped our nation grow from a small collection of colonies to a continent-spanning global power.

Sadly, our community has not received the quality of USPS service it deserves over the last several years. Sporadic delivery, late packages, and poor customer service at the local post offices have plagued this neighborhood. It is time for this to stop. It is time for our community to get the quality of postal service it needs and deserves.

At work we never get our mail timely. Anything coming from USPS is subject to serious doubt as to if it will ever arrive.

Dear Postmaster General Louis DeJoy,

I am writing you about the very poor service I have experienced in Chicago. Currently, I have an outstanding mail carrier. However, whenever she is not working, the mail service is totally unknown! I went Eight Delivery Days with no mail, when I average six pieces a day. I have received mail on Sunday a few times in an attempt to catch up on delivery.

The Northtown Post Office on Devon Avenue in Chicago needs new management. They are not responsive, rarely answering the phone, and almost NEVER returning calls or replying to questions asked at the service counter.

I have lived in five states and never had this poor of service. The P.O. is a

Re- Unacceptable Level of US Postal Service Delivery

As you have been aware from my recent communication, there is a US Postal Service mail delivery problem in the Northtown Post Office located at 3401 W Devon Avenue in Chicago. Surely the recent cold snap and snow contributed to a diminished level of delivery. During that period, neither we or our neighbors received mail for over a week, and for periods of days prior to and after that cold snap.

Nevertheless, the impaired level of delivery service in our carrier route 60645-C067 has been occurring long before the above noted cold snap and snow, and continues to the date of this correspondence. We have not received any mail for the past two days.

Part of the problem results from and apparent US Postal Service policy or letter carrier union work agreement allowing a route-assigned letter carrier to retain the route assignment if that carrier is on temporary leave having an expectation of returning off leave. In such event, the postal route is temporarily assigned to other carriers during the period of leave.

It is our understanding the assigned route carrier for route 60645-C067 has been on leave for an extended period but has retained the route assignment pending her return. As a consequence, we and others of the 500 some route 60645-C067 postal recipients have experienced a constant change in letter carriers (daily at times) – each having to become familiar with the route and each period of familiarity fraught with delays, fluctuating daily delivery times, and receipt of incorrect mailings.

It has not been uncommon to have mail delivered well into the evening to the extent temporary letter carriers have to navigate the route in the darkness of the night with assistance of a flashlight. At times the route is never completed on any given day, so mail is returned to the post office and added to the next day delivery – if that next day delivery ever occurs! Further complicating matters is the continued receiving of mail for others along the route to the extent we must deliver the mail of others!

It appears to have reached a point the USPS Northtown Post Office management has succumbed to a belief this level of service is acceptable. IT IS NOT! IT IS OUTRAGEOUS, INCONSISTENT AND UNPREDICTABLE!

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH!

It is now time for you to act on behalf of the 500 postal route recipients (a high proportion of whom are senior citizens dependent on daily mail deliveries) to remedy this long-standing unacceptable level of US Postal Service delivery.

We look forward to being advised how you specifically intend to remedy this unacceptable level of US Postal Service mail delivery.

Regards,

Roger Flammang
