

Rodney Petersen

Interim Chief of the Applied Cybersecurity Division and Director of NICE

Rodney Petersen is the Interim Chief of the Applied Cybersecurity Division and Director of NICE, advancing cybersecurity education and workforce development, at the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) in the U.S. Department of Commerce. He previously served as the Managing Director of the EDUCAUSE Washington Office. He also founded and directed the EDUCAUSE Cybersecurity Program and the Higher Education Information Security Council. He also worked at the University of Maryland as the Director of IT Policy and Planning in the Office of the Vice President and Chief Information Officer. He also held the role of Campus Compliance Officer in the Office of the President. He received his law degree from Wake Forest University and bachelor's degrees in political science and business administration from Alma College. He was awarded a certificate as an Advanced Graduate Specialist in Education Policy, Planning, and Administration from the University of Maryland.