George S. Barrett

Executive Chairman

George S. Barrett is executive chairman of Cardinal Health, a global integrated healthcare services and products company offering customized solutions for hospitals, health systems, pharmacies, ambulatory surgery centers, clinical laboratories and physician offices worldwide.

Barrett joined Cardinal Health in 2008 and served as Chairman and CEO from 2009 through 2017. Under Barrett's leadership, Cardinal Health grew to rank 15 on the Fortune 500 with approximately 50,000 employees in nearly 60 countries. In addition, during his tenure as Chairman and CEO, Cardinal Health was recognized as one of the world's most admired companies, a best company for leaders and for its support of women, diversity and the arts both locally and globally.

From 1999 through 2007, Barrett held various positions at Teva Pharmaceutical Industries, serving as president and CEO of North America from 2005-2007. Prior to joining Teva, Barrett held various positions with Alkermes Inc., serving as president of U.S. Pharmaceuticals from 1994 to 1997. Barrett also served as president of NMC Laboratories prior to its acquisition by Alkermes in 1990.

Barrett is involved in national and local industry, civic, policy and arts organizations. He serves as chairman of Healthcare Leadership Council and on a number of boards including the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, Nationwide Children's Hospital, Brown University, The Conference Board, Business Council and the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

Barrett has been named by Institutional Investor magazine as a top CEO multiple times, including in 2017. He received the Peter G. Peterson Business Statesmanship Award from the Committee for Economic Development, which recognizes corporate executives who champion issues in the interest of the public good, rather than their company or personal interests, and who hold themselves to the highest standards of ethics and integrity. He also is a recipient of the Ellis Island Medal of Honor, which is awarded annually to a group of distinguished American citizens who exemplify a life dedicated to community service.

Barrett earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Brown University and a Master of Business Administration from New York University. He holds an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Long Island University's Arnold & Marie Schwartz College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences and an Honorary Degree of Fine Arts from Columbus College of Art and Design.
