Summary Report – Water Service Inventory and Pilot Replacement City of Flint April 22, 2016

Introduction

ROWE Professional Services Company was contracted by the MDEQ to 1) develop and administer a pilot program for replacement of lead services and 2) collaborate with MDEQ staff and others to develop an inventory of services. This report provides a summary of these two tasks.

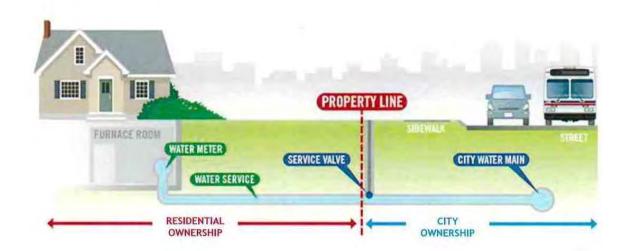

Typical Service Configuration

Water services in the City of Flint convey water from the water mains, which are typically located under the city's streets, to individual homes and businesses. In Flint, the portion of the service pipe located in the city's street right-of-way originally was installed by the city and the city is responsible for its maintenance. The portion of the service pipe located on private property is owned by the individual property owners and they are responsible for its maintenance. The private portion of the service pipes was initially installed individually, as each home or building was built. A curb stop (service valve) is provided on each service pipe, located near the transition from public right-of-way to private property.

Each home or business is provided with a water meter for the purpose of measuring the volume of water consumed. Meters are generally located in the basements of the buildings being served water. Meters are owned by the city and the city is responsible for maintenance of meters.

Since the public portion of the services and the private portion of the services were installed separately at different times and by different installers, it is common that the public section and the private section are constructed of different pipe materials.

Service Summary and Inventory

In response to the city's water emergency, available records from the city and other sources were collected and entered into a GIS database by MDNR staff. As additional information becomes available, the GIS database continues to be updated.

The GIS database shows that there are 43,404 active water services in the city. There are 12,632 vacant parcels in the database. For active services, records show that 53 percent of the services are copper pipe; 8 percent are lead pipe; 18 percent are galvanized pipe; and 21 percent of the material is not identified. Table 1 provides a more detailed summary of the service material based on record information. Figure 2 shows the locations of lead services across the city, based on the records. Figure 3 shows the locations of galvanized services, based on the records. Figure 4 shows the locations where service material is shown as "unknown" in the records. Figure 5 shows the combined locations of lead, galvanized and "unknown" services.

Appendices A-1 through A-9 provide lists of properties in each ward shown as having lead services in the GIS database of city records.

Although the city's records provide guidance regarding the location and quantity of lead services, the summary cannot be considered complete. Since the records typically provide information on the public portion of the service, information regarding the private portion of the services is not normally included. Site visits have been completed at 1,674 homes and inspection of the pipes entering these homes provides information regarding the private service at a small portion of homes.

For the service replacement pilot, the records were shown to be accurate for only 64 percent of the sites.

Service Replacement Pilot

To gain an understanding of some of the conditions associated with service replacement, the city and MDEQ desired that a pilot program providing for the replacement of 30 services be developed. Initially, lead services were to be replaced; however, during development of the pilot program the scope was modified to include galvanized services too. The pilot program provided for replacement of any lead or galvanized service pipes, whether in the public right-of-way or on private property. Only lead or galvanized piping between the meter and the main were replaced.

As the initial step of the pilot, ROWE developed a draft process for identifying and replacing services. This included developing specifications for the materials, securing owner / resident approval, and identifying required permits. ROWE identified the contractor, Johnson & Wood, as the prime contractor to complete the work since they had an existing contract with the state to assist with the Flint water emergency. The city had made initial contact with the City of Lansing Board of Water and Light regarding their experience in replacing lead services in Lansing. Lansing BWL staff provided training and support to Johnson & Wood crews as the pilot program began.

About fifty potential sites for service replacement were identified initially based on criteria, including records of a lead or galvanized service, water testing results, potential for young or elderly residents, and geographic distribution. Following concurrence on the sites by the city and MDEQ, homeowners / residents were contacted regarding their acceptance to participate in the pilot program. Since replacement work would be occurring on private property, written permission was sought from each owner and/or resident.

As permission was provided for specific sites, the site information was provided to the contractor for scheduling a site inspection visit to confirm conditions, to allow for scheduling the work, for calling MISS DIG, and for obtaining permits. MDEQ staff was notified of the scheduled work so that water sampling could be coordinated prior to and following the replacement work.

On the day of replacement, ROWE staff distributed notices to neighboring residents about the work in the area, along with contact information in the event there were questions or problems. The contractor would begin the replacement work by excavating at the curb stop. Exposing the curb stop allows both the public section and the private section of the service pipe to be exposed so it could be confirmed whether there was either lead or galvanized pipe.

The contractor would replace lead and galvanized pipes with copper pipe. Once installed, the water was turned on and the piping was flushed.

A step-by-step summary of the water service replacement process is included in Appendix A-10.

Properties Included in Pilot Program

The following properties were included in the pilot program. Note that 36 properties are shown, which include three properties that were discovered to have existing copper services and three properties that shared the public portion of their services with a neighboring home. The locations of the properties completed in the pilot are shown on Figure 6.

Conclusions

The pilot demonstrated that the service material pipe demonstrated by the city's records was about 63 percent accurate. Appendix A-11 includes a table showing the pipe materials encountered, as well as the material indicated in the records.

Replacement work was conducted in March and April, and several days were lost to snow and rain, making construction more difficult than expected during other seasons. The contractor's crew gained experience through the pilot period; however, the anticipated production rate is expected to vary depending upon actual conditions at a particular site. Costs have not yet been finalized, but excluding permits, the average cost for replacing a service was $7,500. The following table summarizes the difficulties and projected production rates based on different conditions encountered.

Table 3 – Water Service Replacement Conditions and Anticipated Production Rate

Anticipated Service Replacement Difficulty	Anticipated Completion Hours (Arrival through Backfill)	Typical Site Characteristics
Easy – 1 crew should be able to do 2 per day	7 ± 2 Hours	 At least one side of existing service is copper Water main is on near side of street No landscaping/trees Residential/neighborhood street Meter in house is readily accessible Little to no hard surface removal required <40 feet between meter and main One or no conflicting utilities
Medium – 1 crew may be able to do 2 per day	9 ± 3 Hours	 Replacement of entire service Water main near center of street or closer Minor or no landscaping Collector road or smaller Meter in house has accessibility issues or limited work room Some hard surface removal required <60 feet between meter and main 1" existing service or smaller 2 or fewer conflicting utilities
Hard – Likely only one service, per crew, per day should be attempted	11 ± 4 Hours	 Replacement of entire service Water main near center of street or further Heavy/complex landscaping or large tree nearby Collector or arterial road (traffic control required) Meter in house requires wall/structure removal or meter needs to be relocated Some hard surface removal required, possibly including private driveway >60 feet between meter and main 1" existing service or larger Deeper excavation required (deep service, elevated house, etc.) 3 or more conflicting utilities Large home (4,000+ SQ, 4+ Baths) or business service

Following are some issues that came up during the pilot program.

- Permits and Fees Permit fees totaled about $2,400 per site, or about 25 percent of the cost of the typical replacement. The pavement cut fee is the greatest at $2,200, which includes replacement of the pavement. Perhaps the fee can be reduced if the contractor includes pavement replacement with their work.
- Permit Inspections There were times when the contractor had to wait for the inspector to get to the site and approve the pipe work prior to backfilling. Although only a minor concern with the pilot program, it will be critical for a large scale replacement program that there is sufficient inspection staff to avoid contractor delays.
- Services on Private Property Although not common, there are cases where the existing service does not run directly from the main in front of the building to the building. At the Lippincott site, the existing service ran from a main in an adjacent street across neighboring private property, then into the back of the house. For the pilot, the service was relocated to the front of the house, which required that the city make a new tap to their main and that some plumbing inside the house was reworked. If necessary to install it at the original location, it would be necessary to obtain easements from the neighboring property owner(s).
- Finished Basements Some basements have been finished, either concealing the piping entry into the building or making it more difficult get a new pipe into the basement. These are revealed at the time of the initial site visit so that specific details can be identified in advance of performing the work.
- Garbage Day Work requiring a closure of a street can prevent garbage trucks from being able to pick up trash. Perhaps work requiring closures can be coordinated with the schedule for trash pickup to minimize inconveniences.
- Water and Sewer Service in the Same Trench It appears common that the water service was originally installed just over the sewer service in the same trench excavation. This configuration provides the potential for damaging the sewer service pipe as the water service pipe is removed. As a precaution, a camera was installed down the sewer service pipe at each location before and after the water pipe replacement to confirm that the sewer was not damaged. During the pilot, there was no indication that the service replacement work resulted in damage to the sewer service; however, there was one instance where the sewer had been damaged prior to pilot work.
- Fixture Repairs At several locations, residents made complaints about fixtures being impacted by the replacement work (toilet valves leaking, faucets leaking, water heater sediment, etc.). To address these complaints, plumbers replaced valves, snakes pipes and flushed water heaters. Similar complaints will likely occur as service replacements continue. To minimize the potential for false claims, consideration should be given to conducting and inspection of faucets and toilets for proper operation prior to commencing the replacement work at each site.
- Shared Services In the pilot, three situations were encountered where the public service splits at the right-of-way to two private services. Work on one needs to be coordinated with the second.
- Large Pipe / Odd Fittings One of the sites in the pilot had a 1 ½ inch service pipe, which was connected to the main via three separate 1 inch taps, using a special fitting which was not readily available and had to be special-ordered. These conditions do not seem common, but there will likely be other special situations encountered, particularly in certain neighborhoods where large houses are common.

- Trees Trees interfered with the service replacement at three of the pilot sites. Even after removal of the tree and stump, excavation for installation of the new service was difficult because of the remaining root mass.
- Contaminated Soil Soil contaminated with lead is common in the city. Excess soil needs to be properly handled and disposed.
- Dust During the wet spring weather of the pilot work, dust was not a concern. However, for work performed during dry conditions, dust can become a problem. Dust control will be necessary, especially as a result of the presence of lead in the soil in some areas.
- Warranty Consideration should be given to requiring the contractor to provide a warranty on materials and workmanship.
- Worker Identification All workers that will be on private property or entering a private building need to be wearing an identification badge. Entry into homes should be limited to authorized workers with duties to complete inside.

Recommendations

The following recommendations and items should be considered when developing a program for replacement of services on a larger scale basis.

- Define Scope of Service Replacement Program Confirm whether it is planned that both lead and galvanized pipes are replaced, or just lead pipes. Determine whether both the public and private portions of the services are replaced. Replacement of both lead and galvanized services and replacement of private pipes will greatly increase the total services to be replaced. Additionally, many of the services identified as "unknown" will likely be either lead or galvanized pipe. Determine whether water sampling will be provided along with the replacement work. Develop a general plan for completing service replacements for the city, including the criteria to identify services for replacement and a time frame for completing all replacements.
- Two-Step Approach Since records do not provide conclusive evidence of the materials of both the public and private portions of services in most cases, a two-step approach for completing the replacement work should be considered. The first step would provide for investigation to confirm the service pipe materials, secure property owner / resident approval, and identify any specific details to be addressed at particular sites. The second step would provide for the construction work to actually replace the services. Using the specific information from the first step regarding whether only the private or public pipe, or both, are to be replaced along with the particular site conditions, contractors can provide bid prices either for particular sites or for specific units of work such as the length of pipe, area of sidewalk replacement, etc. Although the time from the initial site investigation to the actual construction at a particular site will be greater than with the pilot program, completing the work in the two steps should improve efficiency and reduce overall costs and time frame.
- Meter Replacement The city has been working to replace water meters. As water services are replaced, new meters can be installed. This can save the time by city staff to coordinate and to install new meters at a separate time. By completing the work at the same time as the service replacement, the city's water customers will not need to be disrupted at another time to provide access for the meter installation.
- Neighborhood Replacement Continued replacement should occur by defining areas of several blocks to be replaced at a time. The neighborhoods may be distributed geographically across the - city. This approach will enable neighborhood owners / residents to be notified of the planned replacement work collectively in groups, rather than individually as with the pilot program. Construction can be more efficient, since crews can work on adjacent sites concurrently excavation can be completed on one site while the pipe is installed at another site. This approach should improve the production rate shown in Table 3.

- Public Communication With a larger scale replacement, it will be important and beneficial to provide the public with specific details in advance. By identifying specific neighborhoods or limits, communications with owners/residents can be improved. The following information should be conveyed, at a minimum:
 - Areas where service replacement is planned;
 - Schedule for completing the work;
 - How affected owners / residents will be notified;
 - What information is needed from owners / residents;
 - All replacement workers will have identification badges; and,
 - Who to contact with questions / concerns.
- Confirm Pipe Material Unless there are records confirming that services are copper, it seems that all other services will need to be excavated to confirm the material on both the private and public sections of the service. City records, including both maps and cards, should be reviewed with City of Flint Water Department staff once areas are delineated for services replacement. Some information regarding the piping into the house can be requested from the resident when the initial notice of work is sent to them. Excavation can be conducted at all curb stops where records show "lead", "galvanized", or "unknown" to better refine the list of sites where replacement is needed. This initial excavation work can be completed using "soft-dig" technology to minimize disturbance.
- Multiple Contracts Depending on the funding allocated for service replacement, multiple contracts should be awarded so that the work can be completed quickly. However, the number of contracts and potential work crews must be balanced against the city's ability to provide permitting and inspection.
- Maintain Records As work is completed at homes and businesses, records regarding service material (and meters) should be updated in the GIS database for future reference by city staff. If the ultimate goal is to replace all lead services, good record-keeping will be essential to monitor progress and to document where service pipe materials have been confirmed.
- Vacant Parcels Although replacing lead services at vacant sites is not a priority, there are likely hundreds of lead services connected to the city's mains that are shut off at the right-of-way, leaving stagnant water in the service pipe where lead can leach into the water. In certain conditions this water could drain back into the distribution main and impact its water quality. As the city's mains are replaced, the services to vacant parcels can be removed too to guard against this concern. However, when only services are replaced, the need to remove services to vacant parcels should be considered.
