Bohdan Zachary bio

With four decades of experience in production and management in commercial and public broadcasting, a Silicon Valley technology startup, and Hollywood movie production, Bohdan Zachary has served as General Manager of Milwaukee PBS since November 2015. Prior to that he was a Executive Vice President in Los Angeles at KCET, which is the second largest PBS station in the country. Some of his previous credits include: producing WNBC's top-rated newscast "Live at Five and serving as executive vice president of Cher's film development company.

Zachary is the seventh General Manager of Milwaukee PBS, a duopoly licensed to Milwaukee Area Technical College. During his time at the station, Zachary has increased its local productions to further reflect the voices, faces and needs of southeastern Wisconsin. One such example is Milwaukee PBS' ongoing reporting on lead in water pipes which is impacting 74,000 household in southeast Wisconsin. Another is the comprehensive multimedia 'Plan To Scan' campaign that educated consumers on rescanning remotes once Milwaukee PBS' began channel sharing January 8, 2018.
