Eric Hagopian is the owner and CEO of Pilot Precision Products, a niche industrial cutting tool manufacturer and distributor located in South Deerfield, MA. Pilot is the largest manufacturer of precision broaching tools in North America. The company was founded through the purchase and consolidation of the two predominate industry brands, duMONT and Hassay Savage. Pilot's manufactured products are complimented by three very high-quality brands of precision round cutting tools by Magafor, Palbit and GMauvaisUSA, produced in Europe and sold exclusively by Pilot through all major industrial distribution companies.

Prior to starting Pilot Precision Products and until 2013, Eric served as owner and CEO of Hoppe Technologies, Inc., a leading manufacturer of precision machined components and assemblies for aerospace and defense applications. He then joined forces with several successful software engineers to assist in founding MachineMetrics, Inc., a groundbreaking cloud-based shop floor data collection company that has grown to be the recognized authority in real time shop floor data acquisition.

In addition to his work at Pilot Precision Products, Eric serves in many volunteer positions including the National Tooling and Machining Association's Executive Committee, The American Precision Museum and several private for-profit company boards.

Eric is a Western, MA native where he raised his two beloved daughters, Holley and Olivia. Eric and his wife Daryl enjoy traveling and their family black Lab named Pilot. Eric is a multi-engine instrument rated private pilot and enjoys playing golf as well as restoring and collecting vintage automobiles.
