A subsidiary organization of Humanity United ("HU"), Humanity United Charitable Fund, received a grant from the United Kingdom Department for International Development covering the period from July 2017 to December 2019 for £2,648,349 GBP (the "Grant"). The Grant purpose is to help reduce the prevalence and risk of labor exploitation in corporate supply chains by stimulating the creation and demonstrating the efficacy of solutions to address labor exploitation, especially forced and child labor. The Grant is administered by HU under its Forced Labor and Human Trafficking portfolio, under which HU's Thai Seafood initiative also sits.
