Hunter Biden’s international business deals fell into the spotlight once again last week following the new report.

One e-mail from the computer dated May 13, 2017 discusses 'remuneration packages' for six people in a business deal with the now-bankrupt CEFC China Energy Co.

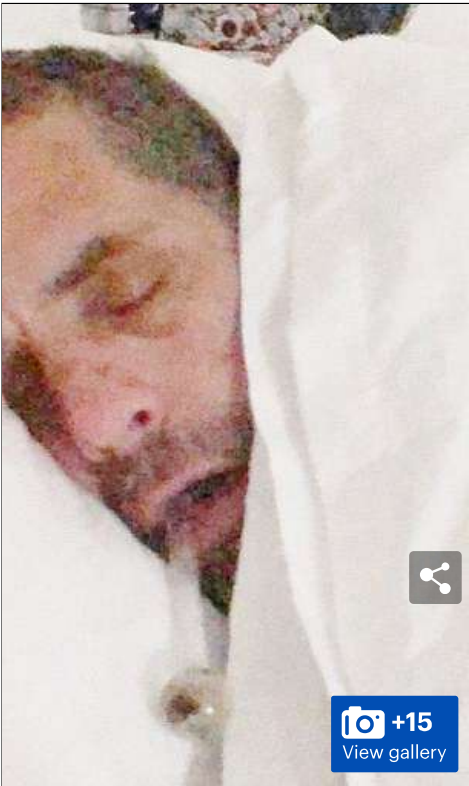

The e-mail appeared to identify Hunter Biden as 'Chair/Vice Chair depending on the agreement with CEFC'.

The e-mail also states that 'Hunter has some office expectations he will elaborate'.

It also proposed equity split differences including '20' for 'H' and '10 held by H for the big guy?' with no further elaboration.

Sources claim that 'the big guy' is a reference to Joe Biden.

Fox News spoke to one of the people copied on the e-mail who confirmed its authenticity.

The New York Post published a photograph, said to be found on an abandoned laptop, showing Hunter with a crack pipe in his mouth, left. A series of compromising pictures of Democratic candidate Joe Biden's son Hunter, 50, (above) have been released just weeks ahead of the US election on November 3

Burisma adviser Vadym Pozharskyi thanked Hunter Biden for 'an opportunity to meet your father' in an email sent in 2015, according to the stash of data given to the New York Post by Giuliani. However the email did not state that the two actually met, and the Biden campaign responded that 'we have reviewed Joe Biden's official schedules from the time and no meeting, as alleged by the New York Post, ever took place.'

However, the Biden campaign has denied that the former Vice President committed any offense.

'Investigations by the press, during impeachment, and even by two Republican-led Senate committees whose work was decried as "not legitimate" and political by a GOP colleague have all reached the same conclusion: that Joe Biden carried out official U.S. policy toward Ukraine and engaged in no wrongdoing. Trump administration officials have attested to these facts under oath,' Biden campaign spokesman Andrew Bates said in a statement.

Federal investigators are now probing whether the e-mails on that laptop are linked to a foreign intelligence operation.

Senate Republicans said they'll investigate the first tranche of e-mails from Hunter's Ukrainian business partners that appear to show a Burisma energy executive being introduced to Joe Biden when he was vice president. That was before Joe Biden lobbied for the firing of a prosecutor who had investigated the company.

Director of National Intelligence John Ratcliffe said Monday that Hunter Biden's laptop 'is not part of some Russia disinformation campaign'

The emails surfaced as U.S. officials have been warning that Russia, which backed Trump's 2016 campaign through hacking of Democratic emails and a covert social media campaign, is interfering again this year.

Donald Trump's Director of National Intelligence John Ratcliffe said Monday that Hunter Biden's laptop 'is not part of some Russia disinformation campaign' as he blasted Rep. Adam Schiff for saying dirt on Trump's rival came from the Kremlin.

He confirmed that the FBI have the laptop but did not comment on whether they are investigating its contents.

'Let me be clear: the intelligence community doesn't believe that, because there is no intelligence that supports that. And we have shared no intelligence with Chairman Schiff, or any member of Congress that Hunter Biden's laptop is part of some Russian disinformation campaign. It's simply not true,' he said on Fox Business Monday.

However he also said that the FBI, which is part of the intelligence community, was in possession of Hunter Biden's laptop.

'The FBI has had possession of this,' Ratcliffe said. 'Without commenting on any investigation that they may or may not have, their investigation is not centered around Russian disinformation and the intelligence community is not playing any role with respect to that.'

President Trump has seized on the information and has made it a staple of his election rallies over the weekend, seeking to portray the Bidens as a 'crime family.'

HOW HUNTER'S EMAILS EXPLODED AS TWO WORLDS COLLIDED

January 2009: Hunter Biden (right) quits lobbying because his father has become vice president, and sets up investment and advisory firm firm Rosemont Seneca with friends Christopher Heinz - John Kerry's stepson - and Devon Archer (left), a former Kerry aide

July 2010: Ukrainian oligarch Mykola Zlochevsky, who owns its biggest natural gas company Burisma joins the government of its president Viktor Yanukovich

February 2014: Yanukovich is deposed in a revolution which claims scores of lives and Burisma Zlochevsky is thrown out of government too

April 16: Burisma is secretly accused of money-laundering by Britain's Serious Fraud Office. On the same day Archer meets Joe Biden at the White House. Six days later Archer joins the board of Burisma

April 28: Britain's Serious Fraud Office freeze $23 million of Burisma's cash, every dollar which exists in the UK's banking system

May 12: Hunter joins the board of Burisma to improve 'corporate governance.' Hunter's salary is later revealed to be $50,000-a-month. Burisma board advisor Vadym Pozharskyi who had met Hunter in Lake Como, Italy, days earlier, emails him asking to 'use his influence' to stop prosecutions. During the summer, the new prosecutor-general of Ukraine opens an investigation into Burisma

February 2015: Senior diplomat George Kent, on temporary assignment to Kyiv, learns of Hunter's role. He phones a staffer at Biden's office to it could 'create perception of a conflict of interest.' That month Viktor Shokin takes office as Ukraine's prosecutor general, despite already being the subject of questions about his own links to corruption

April 17: Email from Hunter's laptop shows Pozharskyi writing Hunter: 'thank you for inviting me to DC and giving an opportunity to meet your father and spent some together.'

Summer: The Burisma investigation appears to become dormant

January 2016: Biden travels to Ukraine amid mounting international disgust at Shokin failing to tackle corruption. One of the concerns raised by the European Union and IMF is that he has failed to investigate Burisma. Biden

April 25: Joe Biden announces presidential run

July 11: The laptops have not been picked up and are now considered 'abandoned' according to MacIsaac's terms and conditions

Summer: MacIsaac claims he becomes worried about what he has seen on the laptop whose contents he put on a disk, and thinks he might be killed by a Biden associate for having it in his shop

Fall: MacIsaac either contacts the FBI or is contacted by them; he has said both

December 9 or 19: The FBI pick up the laptop, but MacIsaac has made a copy for himself. Giuliani later says the shopowner has made four. They give him a grand jury subpoena to hand it over, even though he was going to anyway

Early January 2020: The FBI tell MacIsaac not to talk to anyone and to stall if a Biden representative comes to get the laptop back

Dear Hunter, thank you for inviting me to DC and giving an opportunity to meet your father and spent some time together. It's really an honor and pleasure. As we spoke yesterday evening, would be great to meet today for a quick coffee. What do you think? I could come to your office somewhere around noon or so, before or on my way to airport.
