

Todd Garvey has been a legislative attorney with the American Law Division of the Congressional Research Service since 2009. In this capacity, his work primarily focuses on the constitutional separation of powers and congressional oversight and investigations. He has authored numerous CRS products on these topics, either singularly or collaboratively, including CRS Report RL30240, Congressional Oversight Manual; CRS Report R45653, Congressional Subpoenas: Enforcing Executive Branch Compliance; CRS Report R45442, Congress's Authority to Influence and Control Executive Branch Agencies; and CRS Report R45983, Congressional Access to Information in an Impeachment Investigation.

Mr. Garvey received his B.A. from Colgate University and his J.D. from the William & Mary Law School. He previously testified before the House Judiciary Committee at a hearing in 2016. Mr. Garvey is a member of the Virginia bar.