

Jason Hernandez

Jason Hernandez was a first time nonviolent drug offender when he received a mandatory minimum sentence of life in prison for conspiracy to distribute crack cocaine. He served 17 years before his sentence was commuted by President Obama on December 19, 2013.