

David McDermott is the founding partner of McDermott Law Group, LLC (also known as “Not Your Typical Attorneys”), a firm spanning multiple states, with a concentration in Criminal Defense and Personal Injury. David has been litigating criminally charged cases for 27 years and is amongst the most skilled and recognized self-defense attorneys in the country. He has a reputation for tackling complex legal matters with precision, integrity and compassion. David’s passion for what he refers to as “representing the good guys after they’ve been involved in bad situations” has garnered him a reputation for being “America’s Self-Defense Attorney”.

In the courtroom, David is a fierce litigator, who is nationally recognized for consistently securing not-guilty verdicts in those cases where he has asserted self-defense on behalf of his clients. Outside of the courtroom, David has traveled the country, educating thousands of gun owners on the topic of self-defense and bringing awareness to various issues that arise after people have been placed in situations where they are forced to defend themselves.

David is a USCCA network attorney, dedicated to representing USCCA members throughout the country that have been involved in self-defense incidents.