

Question for Erik Peterson: How can Congress help local governments address the problems associated with sober living homes?