

Dylan Hedtler-Gaudette is the Government Affairs Manager at the Project On Government Oversight. In this role he advocates for a more accountable and transparent federal government through the advancement of good government policy reforms. Dylan focuses on issues ranging from lobbying and ethics reform to judicial accountability and congressional oversight, among others. Dylan received his graduate degree from Northeastern University and his undergraduate degrees from the University of Southern Maine. He has appeared in national print publications such as the Washington Post and Business Insider and audio outlets such as Federal News Network and NPR.