

Rodney Noble

Sr. Director - North America Transportation and Fleet Strategy
PepsiCo Global Procurement

Presently, as the Sr. Director of North America Transportation and Fleet Strategy, Rodney's area of responsibility includes strategy development and capacity procurement for all modes of purchased transportation / freight as well as North America Fleet procurement for PepsiCo. This organization is a mixture of transportation execution, centralized strategy, planning, technology, integration and procurement of freight and fleet solutions for PepsiCo across North America.

Over the years, Rodney has held numerous jobs with increased responsibilities that include field operations i.e., private fleet transportation, warehouse management, and sales operations management. Rodney has spent the last half of his PepsiCo career in domestic headquarter and global leadership roles in Carrier Operations Management and Procurement activities across all modes of transportation.

Rodney has been with PepsiCo for 33 years and is located in Plano, Texas. He attended college in his home state where he earned a BS degree in Engineering Technology / Industrial Distribution at Texas A&M University.