

Christopher Guttman-McCabe

Executive Vice President

As Executive Vice President, Guttman-McCabe works closely with CTIA President and CEO Steve Largent, its board of directors and its policy departments to help ensure the association continues to advance the goals of the wireless industry and its members, to the ultimate benefit of America's wireless consumers. He is also integral in managing the association's overall operations.

Guttman-McCabe was Vice President for Regulatory Affairs from September 2005-July 2013. He has been at CTIA since 2001, where he worked on a wide range of issues involving spectrum, regulatory mandates and homeland security.

Prior to joining CTIA, Guttman-McCabe worked as an attorney for four years at the D.C. based law firm Wiley Rein & Fielding LLP. He served as an Associate in the Communications Practice Group where he advised clients on wireless and common carrier issues, including licensing, compliance, and policy matters. Guttman-McCabe started his career as a management and strategic consultant to the steel industry at AUS Consultants and later co-founded Jacobson & Associates, a metals industry management and strategic consulting firm, where he served as the Vice President.

Guttman-McCabe received his B.A. degree in economics from Swarthmore College and his J.D. Magna Cum Laude from Catholic University with a certificate from the Institute for Communications Law Studies.
