Thomas Wong, D.O. works as a Senior Physician in the Office of Healthcare Inspections within the VA Office of Inspector General (OIG), a position he has held since September 2014. Prior to joining the OIG, he cared for veterans as a primary care physician for 13 years at the Canandaigua, New York, VA Medical Center. While at Canandaigua, he held numerous significant positions to include the Chief of Primary Care and Lead Physician for Patient Safety.

Dr. Wong is board certified in Internal Medicine. His education includes obtaining a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering and Operations Research from the Columbia University School of Engineering and Applied Science, Columbia University, New York, New York; a Doctor of Osteopathy from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and he completed a residency in internal medicine at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

During his tenure with the VA OIG, Dr. Wong has led healthcare inspections of many critical quality of care issues that were the subject of VA OIG reports over the last 3 years.