

Emily J. DeVito
Associate Director
National Legislative Service
Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States

Emily DeVito is Associate Director of the National Legislative Service for the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. It is her responsibility to analyze and consult with Congress on issues related to economic opportunity. After commissioning through the Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) at Boston University, she served six years on active duty in the United States Navy as a Surface Warfare Officer, and two years in the United States Navy Reserve. Emily was stationed at Naval Base San Diego onboard the USS COMSTOCK, participating in western Pacific deployments for expeditionary and anti-piracy operations around the Persian Gulf. She was then stationed at Headquarters, United States Forces, Japan, serving in the operations center during Operation Tomodachi following the triple earthquake, tsunami and nuclear crisis. After transitioning from active duty status and becoming a Marine Corps spouse, Emily began work in military outreach and partnerships for higher education institutions, helping connect service members and veterans with resources to pursue their education benefits. Emily is a member of VFW Post 3150 in Arlington, Va. and resides in Fairfax, Va.
